Outreach Update July 2018

Hello, my friends!

One of my favorite teams are choirs! Sharing the love of Jesus through song collapses barriers.

In June, we hosted the Louisiana All State Choir in the International Village. Two large busses carried the terrific team into town. We started our safari at the Shiva Mandir in Global Mall. It is one of the biggest of the Hindu temples in the area. The priests, Sunil and Santosh always give us a warm welcome.

After listening to the afternoon pooja (prayer time for the idols), I told Sunil that we had a special gift for him.

“This team is the All State Choir for Louisiana! They have a few songs for you!”

“That is wonderful! Thank you very much!” Sunil was super excited about this.

The team lined up and sang wonderful praise songs to Jesus. Sunil went up with the band and even clapped along! After the songs were completed, Sunil took me aside and said, “Thank you very much for bringing them. It was very good!”

“You’re welcome, Sunil!”

I guided the team through the corridors of Global Mall and then onto the bus to continue our trip. Not long after, the two busses pulled into the parking lot of Al Madina—The largest Middle Eastern grocery store and restaurant in the South.

“Asalam aleikum, Mustapha!” I greeted one of the managers warmly.

“Aleikum asalam, Tim!” He replied.

“I have a great gift for you today! This team is all the way from Louisiana. They are the All State Choir! They would like to sing a couple of songs for you!”

“That sounds great!” He responded.

After lining up, the choir began singing the same praise songs that they had performed at the Hindu temple.

“Stop! You must not sing these song here!” One of the men shopping at the store was very upset. “You cannot sing church music here! It is against our religion! I do not come here to shop and be forced to listen to your music for Jesus!” He ranted.

The choir finished the song to the applause of most of the store.

“I will complain to the manager! We will have this place shut down!” He warned.

I was pretty uptight about it. I always knew something like this could happen. However, the loved it and had been recording the songs on his phone! “If you do not like it you can leave!” He told the man. The next time you’re singing in church, imagine how you’d feel if you were singing to a group of Hindus or Muslims!

Pray for the Outreach that our teams are having in the International Village! We have had Backyard Bible Clubs in over twenty different locations. Several of them have never had an evangelistic word ever! We are sharing light in the darkness!

THANKS for prayer support. It saved Miles’ life!

LOVE, TIM AND KATHY
